Hartwick Pines' "critter walk" draws a crowd

by Matt Seager
Staff Writer

Black bears aren't always black. Sometimes they're white. There are at least 1,700 people in Crawford County and the surrounding areas who know this unusual animal fact, thanks to Hartwick Pines' "Critters in the Moonlight Halloween Walk."

The fourth annual event took place near the State Park's picnic area last Saturday. It attracted the largest crowd the event has ever seen on a single day, with cars parked in the woods and a line that stretched into the parking lot.

Although these sorts of lines are common at theme parks, it is somewhat unusual to see this much interest in a primarily educational event.

"It was a huge night. Huge," said program developer Pam Engel.

From 6:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m., park patrons traveled through a wooded park path illuminated by jack-o-lanterns. Instead of the usual spooky specters, this Halloween walk was filled with informative animals.

"You don't have to worry about the real young kids getting scared," said park historian Rob Burg.

Burg said that offering an educational program was a natural choice for Hartwick Pines.

"It's part of our mission here at the park," said Burg.

Area resident Ryan Nelson, who attended the event with his daughters McKenzie and Cherise, agreed that the educational angle was a smart choice for kids.

"I liked that they learned something. It wasn't your typical Halloween haunted woods," said Nelson.

Voters to decide road repair millage

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Crawford County voters are being asked to go to the polls on Nov. 4 to support a millage that will stem the deterioration of crumbling and pothole filled roads.

The five-year, one-mill proposal would fund the reconstruction and maintenance of county roads done by the Crawford County Road Commission. The millage, if approved by voters, would generate about $543,000 per year for road repairs and maintenance.

Road commissioners are seeking financial support from Crawford County taxpayers, since state revenues from the Michigan Transportation Fund (MTF), money collected from gasoline taxes, weight taxes and license registration fees, has been decreasing since 2003. That has resulted in the road commission not replacing employees that have retired and cutting back on equipment purchases and overtime expenses.

During the summer road construction season, the Crawford County Road Commission was only able to complete a pair of projects due to budget woes. The first project included reconstructing and paving a two and a half mile stretch of North Down River Road between Wakeley Bridge Road and Stephan Bridge Road. The road commission had to bank its state and federal funding for a couple of years to complete that job.

The other project included repairing a one and a half mile stretch on North Higgins Lake Drive. The road commission is receiving $300,000 from the state for that project, since the road is used to access the North Higgins Lake State Park. The Roscommon County Road Commission and Gerrish Township also contributed funding for that project, since it is on the county line.

The road commission typically likes to reconstruct eight to 10 miles of road per year, but has to save up just to repair a couple of miles under the current economic conditions. There are over 40 to 50 miles of roadway in the county that need to be repaired.

"We have tried to pave a certain amount of roads every year to maintain a level of service to the public and we're not even close to being able to do that," said Don Babcock, the managing director for the Crawford County Road Commission.

Earlier this year, the road commission converted a stretch of Wakeley Bridge Road, from M-72 to the AuSable River, back into a gravel road to improve the safety of the roadway.

"We're robbing Peter to pay Paul and it's not working," Babcock said. "We're going back to the Stone Age."

The tax which goes into the MTF funds, which is distributed to the Michigan Department of Transportation, counties, townships, cities and villages, is based on the gallons of fuel sold. Continued on Page 14A

Local students step into World War II history

by Matt Seager
Staff Writer

There's a difference between knowing American history and living it. Grayling High School (GHS) students recently had the opportunity to interview a panel of men who participated in one of the most historically important events of the 20th Century.

Last Tuesday, members of the GHS Student Senate participated in a special question and answer session with six World War II veterans, three of whom are from Crawford County. The event took place at Mercy Manor.

"I wouldn't go through it again for a million dollars, but I wouldn't take a million dollars for what I went through," said Jim Brown, who joined the marines on Pearl Harbor Day.

Joining Brown on the panel were Ramira Rendon, Leo Post, Bob Strehle, Gerald Kellogg and Walter Zelinsky. Each of these men fought in World War II as a member of the Marines, the Army or the Navy.

Citizens volunteer to mediate fire department battle

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

A group of Grayling area residents has been impaneled to try to find common ground between the City of Grayling and Grayling Charter township officials over a fire department dispute.

About 50 people attended a public hearing, held by the Grayling Charter Township Board last week, to discuss the future administration of the Grayling City/Township Fire Department.

In January, the township board authorized a lawsuit against the City of Grayling. Township officials were seeking the return of a committee of township and city officials to oversee the operations of the Grayling City/Township Fire Department.

Chamber hires full-time office manager

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce has a new face in the office handling day-to-day business as the organization moves forward.

Theresa Compton began her duties as the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce's office manager on Monday, Oct. 13.

Mark Gurnow, the chairman of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, said 250 people applied for the position. A field of 10 applicants were interviewed by the board and Compton was selected from two finalists for the position.

Gurnow said that Compton has a background in accounting, bookkeeping and dealing with the public.

"We're glad to have her on board so we can start getting things moving forward," Gurnow said. "She's going to be out there and is going to be the face of the chamber and she has got those very important people skills. The board is a volunteer group and we need somebody like Theresa in the chamber on a day-to-day basis."

Compton has worked for four years at the Crawford Roscommon Soil Conservation District, working her way up from office manager to administrator. She has worked with a number of local county and city officials, has worked with non-profit organizations, has worked with volunteers and is familiar with the Grayling community. Her position with the Crawford Roscommon Soil Conservation District was eliminated last year, due to state budget cuts. Prior to joining the chamber, Compton worked as an office manager for a local construction firm.

Compton said that she looks forward to working with businesses, area residents and tourists, helping serve the chamber's role in Grayling.

"We're a gateway to the community," Compton said. "I'm hoping that, with my knowledge and experience, I can bring a lot of good to the table here."

Compton will be in the chamber office from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday. She said she looks forward to working with business owners and volunteers as she begins to take on chamber functions and activities.

Next, Gurnow said the chamber board is seeking to add new members. In August, Lanice Rutter, a past chairwoman for the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce, submitted a letter of resignation as she neared the end of her term on the board. Jeddy Hood, who was serving as chairwoman of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce, also resigned from the board.

Kim Millikin, the chamber's interim executive director, resigned from her position. Millikin, a former chamber board and ambassador member, was filling in the place of former Chamber Director Tim Zigila.

Theresa Compton (above) began her duties as the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce's office manager on Monday, Oct. 13. Compton will be in the chamber office from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Zigila was laid off last year, after serving eight years with the chamber, due to budget issues. Kathy Thomas, the former chamber office coordinator, was laid off earlier this year after seven years with the organization.

The chamber board currently has seven members. The charter for the organization says it can have up to 16 members. Gurnow encourages people seeking to volunteer for the chamber board to submit a letter of interest to Compton.

Gurnow said the board is seeking input from new members as it continues to work on the vision and mission of the organization.

"It's not right as a small board to try and do all the things we need to do," Gurnow said.

Gurnow added that bills for annual dues for the chamber will be sent out next month. He said that the board seeks the continued backing of the business community and encourages anyone with ideas for the chamber to direct them to Compton or to board members.

"We feel like we've really got the support we need from the residents and the business community and they have reminded us that they really want their chamber to be successful," Gurnow said.

Lake Margrethe dredging project recommended

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

Members of the Lake Margrethe Property Owners Association are hoping to have a dredging project completed on an outlet to the lake to help manage water levels.

The lake association has undertaken the responsibility to manage the levels of Lake Margrethe for the Crawford County Road Commission for the last 15 years.

A court order, issued in 1974 in accordance with the Inland Lakes Level Act, mandated that the lake be maintained at 1,134.4 feet above sea level on April 30 of each year through Nov. 1, when boards at the dam located at the outlet of Lake Margrethe in Portage Creek are removed. The lake is then allowed to reach a lower level of 1,133.7 feet above sea level on Nov. 1 of each year, continuing through April 30 of the following year, in order to prevent ice damage to the shoreline during the winter and spring thaw.

Over the last five to seven years, lake association members have been having difficulty reaching the summer ordered lake levels.

The problem has been caused due to the Portage Creek Dam and the water flow in Portage Creek not adequately reducing lake water levels quickly enough. High water and high winds have caused some areas of the Lake Margrethe shoreline to erode and flooding to occur.

"Ice just tears up banks and causes a tremendous amount of erosion all around the lake," said Chuck Spencer, the vice president of the Lake Margrethe Property Owners Association's Board of Directors, who is overseeing the lake level study.

Earlier this year, engineers from the Northwest Design Group of Petoskey completed a study on the lake level issue.

Engineers are recommending that cattails, located between the mouth of the lake and Portage Creek which obstruct water flow, must be removed. A 15 foot wide by 150 foot stretch of Portage Creek, located between the mouth of the lake and a foot-bridge over the creek, needs to be dredged to remove sand and silt that has accumulated in the creek. Engineers are also recommending that Portage Creek Dam be operated to cleanse the channel. Finally, a sand trap would be installed downstream from the dredged area to reduce the impact of the dredging and extend the benefits of the dredging.

The Crawford County Road Commission, which oversees the office of the county drain commissioner, agreed to submit a dredging application to the Department of Environmental Quality for the project.

"They have been trying to get a handle on the lake levels the best they can," said Don Babcock, the managing director for the Crawford County Road Commission. "If we get some heavy rainfalls, they can't drain the lake fast enough, so hopefully this will help cure or help them solve the problem."

The estimated cost for the dredging is $30,000. The lake association will seek funds from Camp Grayling, Grayling Charter Township and Crawford County to assist with the project. Huron Pines will be asked to administer and oversee the dredging project.

Spencer said that the lake association hopes to have the dredging done before the end of the year, in order to achieve the mandated winter lake levels.

"It's quite a complicated process," Spencer said. "We have our fingers crossed that we can get this done as soon as possible to correct the levels and not have an impact on our resident fish population during spring spawning."

In addition to the dredging project, the boards at the Portage Creek Dam used to control the lake level will be replaced. AJD Forest Products has donated timber for the dam upgrade and Crawford County Road Commission employees will install the new dam boards.

"The new dam boards are needed to help us manage the water levels and this is a huge help that will go along with the dredging operation," said Joe Porter, the president of the Lake Margrethe Property Owners Association.

Man charged after local crime spree

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Grayling man was charged for over a dozen crimes after he broke into the home of an elderly couple earlier this month.

Crawford County Sheriff Kirk Wakefield said that Keith Revord was arrested for breaking and entering an occupied residence, 11 larcenies from vehicles and breaking and entering a garage. All the crimes occurred earlier this month in the Airport Subdivision in Grayling Township.

Revord is accused of breaking into the house of an elderly couple while they were still at home. The man in the home had gotten up and made some coffee, then fell asleep in a chair, Wakefield said. As Revord was attempting to enter a bedroom in the home, the woman noticed him and asked him why he was in the home, Wakefield said. Revord claimed that the man had given him permission to use the bathroom, then fled the home, Wakefield said. When the woman questioned her husband about the stranger in the home, they went to the window and saw Revord running across their lawn. The couple gave a description to Crawford County Sheriff's Deputies.

Deputies were able to locate Revord, who was wanted on an unrelated warrant. During questioning after his arrest, Revord allegedly confessed to the other crimes, Wakefield said.

Revord is being held in the Crawford County Jail in lieu of a $10,000 bond.

Jane Gyulveszi instructs kids during an "American Girl" program session on Oct. 14. The program is about having fun while also introducing kids to their local library. A counterpart boys' program starts in November.

American Girl program promotes hands-on learning

by Matt Seager
Staff Writer

Food, fun and reading are all words that go together at the Devereaux Memorial Crawford County Library. This Tuesday, the library wrapped up its "American Girl" program, a series of events that offered young girls plenty of entertainment while promoting reading.

"The kids are learning history and they're having so much fun they don't even know it," said librarian Jane Gyulveszi.

"American Girl" is a children's book series that focuses on historical fiction. The stories highlight key moments in American history and are typically told from the perspective of a nine or 10-year-old girl.

"They research it and all of their authors are very good writers," said Gyulveszi.

In recent years, the book series has branched out to include everything from kids' cookbooks to jewelry making guides. The idea is to give kids a chance to have some hands-on fun.

"I think it's a good way for the girls to feel good about themselves," said Gyulveszi.

Once a year, Gyulveszi runs an after school program that is based in part on the book series. The program is directed toward primary and elementary school girls.

Gyulveszi runs the program with a different theme each year. This year's theme was called "It's a Small World." The October meetings made extensive use of miniatures.

Area resident Laura Schans created a large "doll house" display for the program. Special guest Renee Wojdan, a local jewelry expert, helped girls make jewelry for dolls.

"I do try to get people who are in the community here involved," said Gyulveszi.

She feels that kids get a lot out of the weekly program.

"I think these programs are always a lot of fun and they're informative. It showcases what a beautiful library we have," said Gyulveszi.

She noted that the American Girl program gets kids into the library when they are young.

"There's something in the library for everybody and my job is to get all those people in here," said Gyulveszi.

Like nearly all library programs, the American Girl sessions are offered free of charge. Parents simply need to sign their kids up for the program before it starts.

"Patrons get to come in and, for free, get a really nice program," said Gyulveszi.

Sign-ups are now available for a counterpart program called "The Camouflage Club." Taking place in November, this program is directed at boys in the same age group and will feature a tour of Camp Grayling.

American Girl will be back with an entirely new theme next fall. "I've already started thinking about what I'm going to do next year," said Gyulveszi.

Training for digital television conversion slated

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The Michigan Association of Broadcasters and Michigan National Guard have teamed up to prepare the public for the conversion to digital television which will take place in February.

The Michigan Association of Broadcasters is hosting a statewide digital television preparedness training session at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 23, at Camp Grayling's Long Distance Learning Center, which is Building 329A. Broadcasters are hosting similar sessions at 18 other Michigan National Guard facilities across the state.

On February 17, 2009, TV stations in the United States will comply with a Federal Communications Commission mandate and will discontinue airing all programming in the analog format that consumers have been watching since commercial television began in 1941. The improvements will enhance the picture and sound quality of programs. In addition, television stations can multi-cast programming in the digital format, offering multiple programs simultaneously and more choices for viewers.

Besides upgrades for television viewers, the Federal Communications Commission is mandating the change to digital television as a health, safety and welfare improvement.

Television and radio station signals are transmitted through a portion of the atmosphere called the electro-magnetic spectrum. Analog transmission of television signals takes up more space in this spectrum. By changing to the digital format, free space in the electro-magnetic spectrum will enhance communications for police, firefighters, emergency responders, and for such items as wireless cell phones and computers.

Under the change, TV stations in Michigan and throughout the country will transition to a digital format that will not be compatible with the majority of television sets, VCRs and similar products purchased prior to 1998.

Television viewers with older technology have the option of switching to a cable television provider, signing up with a digital satellite television network or purchasing a digital converter box.

The training will focus on educating people on how to install and operate a digital converter box that allows viewers without digital televisions to still get television coverage. In addition, the class will bring to light the importance antennas play in the digital transition.

"We do have some remote areas in the state where people will need a fairly big antenna to pick up television," said Mary Epps, the DTV project assistant for the Michigan Association of Broadcasters.

The training session will include information on applying for $40 coupons from the Federal Communications Commission to purchase digital converter boxes. The boxes range in price from $40 to $70, so the price of a converter may be fully covered depending on the model consumers choose.

The training will also cover using the converter boxes prior to Feb. 17, 2009, since some broadcasters are already transmitting digital signals that will go full strength once the change is mandated.

"We want to make sure everybody is educated and has a plan of action before the transition date comes," Epps said.

The Michigan Association of Broadcasters has established a web site - michigandtv.com - and a hotline - 1-888-643-8809 - to inform viewers of changes and their options.

Broadcasters fear that viewers will call 911 when they don't receive their television signals, since television may be the only source of emergency information for some viewers.

"This is a type of situation where we don't need to overflow 911 services," Epps said.

Camp Grayling's Long Distance Learning Center has the capacity to hold 30 people for the training session. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. and people planning to attend should give themselves ample amount of time and have valid photo identification ready, due to Camp Grayling's security measures.

Marijuana, stem cell decisions face voters

TWO COMPLICATED and controversial questions face Michigan voters on Nov. 4, and they really have nothing to do with partisan politics.

At the end of a long ballot topped by the question of who will be president for the next four years are two proposals to amend the Michigan constitution on questions of medicine and science.

Proposal One would legalize the use and growing of marijuana for medicinal purposes.

Proposal Two would expand the legal use of human embryos for scientific research.

The marijuana question has been making the rounds in Michigan for several years, but petition drives in the past have always come up short. This time enough signatures were collected, and medical use of marijuana must now be decided by Michigan voters.

Use of human embryos for stem cell research has been growing around the country and the world, but Michigan law restricts embryo use in several ways. Proposal Two would loosen those restrictions in significant ways and encourage intensified stem cell research.

Conscientious voters should study these issues before they go to their precincts to vote. The questions will appear at the end of the ballot, and if history repeats, many voters will either forget or decline to vote on them.

In an effort to be helpful, here is the exact wording as it appears on my absentee ballot.

PROPOSAL 08-1
A LEGISLATIVE INITIATIVE TO PERMIT THE USE AND CULTIVATION OF MARIJUANA FOR SPECIFIED MEDICAL CONDITIONS
The proposed law would:

- Permit physician approved use of marijuana by registered patients with debilitating medical conditions including cancer, glaucoma, HIV, AIDS, hepatitis C, MS and other conditions as may be approved by the Department of Community Health.

- Permit registered individuals to grow limited amounts of marijuana for qualifying patients in an enclosed, locked facility.

- Require Department of Community Health to establish an identification card system for patients qualified to use marijuana and individuals qualified to grow marijuana.

- Permit registered and unregistered patients and primary caregivers to assert medical reasons for using marijuana as a defense to any prosecution involving marijuana.

Should this proposal be adopted?

*** * ***
NUTSHELL ARGUMENTS – Proponents generally argue suffering patients should be entitled to smoke marijuana to ease pain, and this use of marijuana would not be harmful.

Opponents generally argue marijuana is a bad drug that leads to addiction and harder drug use, and should continue to be outlawed.

A variety of medical professionals have lined up on both sides of the question. Police generally oppose the idea.

PROPOSAL 08-2
A PROPOSAL TO AMEND THE STATE CONSTITUTION TO ADDRESS HUMAN EMBRYO AND HUMAN EMBRYONIC STEM CELL RESEARCH IN MICHIGAN

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

embryos for any research permitted under federal law subject to the following limits: the embryos

- are created for fertility treatment purposes;

- are not suitable for implantation or are in excess of clinical needs;

- would be discarded unless used for research;

- were donated by the person seeking fertility treatment.

- Provide that stem cells cannot be taken from human embryos more than 14 days after cell division begins.

- Prohibit any person from selling or purchasing human embryos for stem cell research.

- Prohibit state and local laws that prevent, restrict or discourage stem cell research, future therapies and cures.

Should this proposal be adopted?

NUTSHELL ARGUMENTS – Proponents generally argue that Michigan is behind other states in stem cell research and is losing out on a valuable economic opportunity, that destroying unused embryos is a waste of valuable tools for research.

Opponents generally argue the proposal goes too far and that the state should continue to exercise some controls, that human embryos are human life and should not be destroyed, that human cloning might be the next step.

Again, medical experts and scientists line up on both sides. The Catholic church and some other religious groups oppose the amendment.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What is the matter with this town?

To the editor:

A week ago, my husband and I put up our Halloween decorations and lo and behold some fine people took it. This is not the first time things have happened to our home and our property. I am to the point that I don't want to live in this terrible town.

I was born and raised here and try to show pride in this town, but you live in a town where people disrespect each other and cause damage to other people's homes and property.

What have we taught our children? To take what is not theirs and disrespect the ones who try to defend them. My son is disappointed, as he and others have enjoyed what we do.

So, my advice to you all is, don't decorate your homes because some low-life jerks are waiting in the bushes to steal it all.

So, if you recently received a Halloween blow up and it wasn't in a box, just know that it was stolen and return it to 705 Maple Street. No questions asked. We would like it back, it may restore what little faith we have left in this wonderful little town we live in.

Do you know where your children are?

CCUW Care Night cancelled

To the editor:

Dear United Way supporters, due to slow ticket sales and response for donations, the board has voted to cancel Care Night on Oct. 25. We are planning to reschedule the event for February. All donated items will be held onto for the later date.

Please note that if you are selling raffle tickets for food in your belly, we are going to draw the winners on Friday, Oct. 24, at the Gray Rock Cafe at 6 p.m. It is very important to sell as many tickets as possible for this raffle. If you are a ticket seller, will you please contact me by e-mail and drop all tickets and money to Michelle Buhgy or Karen Hatley at North Lakes Mental Health, next to the health department, by Oct. 23 if possible.

Community bamboozled by King David

To the editor:

I was at a Grayling Charter Township meeting recently that pertained to the Grayling City and Township Fire Department. I was shocked to see how many people there were misinformed about the fire department and willing to point fingers at Terry Wright as the problem.

The problem is not with the township, but with the city. David Thayer, who has forcefully taken over the fire department, has given the Grayling Township Board, not just Terry Wright, no choice after communications broke down to protect Grayling Township with a lawsuit.

Also shocking to me, after living in the community for over 25 years, is just how easy it was for people to accept what King David and his court jesters (city council) were dishing out.

I know it took most people and myself at least five, if not 10 years, to prove themselves to the community and be accepted. And, after only two years, what has David Thayer proven to the community? How bad he can screw things up, even if they are not broken. For instance, the public works department, the cemetery, the police department and now the fire department.

It saddens me to say that after at least 50 years or more of trust and growth together, it took only two years to destroy it.

Until the people of Grayling hold their city council and King David accountable for their actions, how many more things that are not broken will be screwed up?

Shame on the chamber and the gas station owners

To the editor:

Over the past 10 years, I have traveled to Grayling five or six times a year. This year, I have only been to Grayling once.

Why? Gasoline prices have been 30 to 40 cents a gallon higher than Detroit, Lansing and Kalamazoo. Those areas received my travel dollars.

Shame on the Grayling Chamber of Commerce and the gasoline station owners for allowing this injustice. Your greed has cost you.

Special note for Camp Lejeune veterans

To the editor:

This notice was in my American Legion paper this month. I thought it might be of interest.

Attention veterans, if you were stationed at Camp Lejeune between 1957 - 1987, the Marine Corps is actively searching for you and your family members.

Unregulated chemicals were discovered in some of the water systems. The Marine Corps is funding health studies to determine when the drinking water was contaminated.

You are asked to register with them either by calling their toll free number at 877-261-9782 or at their Web site at www.marines.mil. You will receive information about the situation in the mail within 30 days of registering.

Let's move on

To the editor:

As a city of Grayling resident, it's about time a few facts came to light regarding the fire department conflict.

The population of the Charter Township of Grayling is approximately 7,500 people, about 83 percent of the combined city/township population.

There are about 1,500 people residing in the City of Grayling, 17 percent of the total.

The contract being offered by the city to the township for fire protection services requires the township to pay only 60 percent of the operating costs.

It seems to me that the township is getting a terrific bargain for the money and should be glad to get such excellent service from a highly qualified fire department for a relatively small amount of money.

Terry, get off it, sign the agreement and let's move on to more important issues.

It would be nice to know events ahead of time

To the editor:

My husband and I were up to Grayling this last weekend on Oct. 3 - 5. We got the Avalanche at home in Pontiac, but never know what events are going on until after they happen. It would be nice if you would put in the events for the next month in last week's paper the month before. More people could make plans to come to the events. We have friends in Roscommon and Houghton Lake that did not know of the events. The Harvest Fest was very nice.

Also, I agree with what people have wrote about the gas prices in Grayling. The morning of Oct. 3, we paid $3.36 a gallon in Pontiac and when we got to Grayling, it was $3.78 a gallon. We came home on Oct. 5 and gas in Pontiac was $3.25 a gallon. The state should check into the station's in Grayling and the other towns around there and fine them.

Not eligible to run for trustee

To the editor:

I am currently on the ballot running for a Frederic Township Trustee position under the Democratic ticket.

After the primaries, I was notified that due to the Hatch Act, which prevents federal employees from running for a partisan office, I was not eligible to run for trustee.

In order to comply with that Act, I must withdraw my name from the election and request that any voters who would have voted for me, now vote for one of the other three candidates.

GHS band gave a great performance

To the editor:

My husband and I went to see our granddaughter play as part of the Grayling High School band in the Thirdly Marching Band Exhibition in Traverse City.

The band played well and marched extremely well. Peals of delight were heard from the large audience as the band gave their flag presentation. Congratulations to Matt Bishop and the GHS band for a great performance.

Habitat for Humanity of Crawford County is accepting applications for potential homeowners Habitat for Humanity of Crawford County is accepting applications from families or individuals interested in becoming Habitat homeowners. The applications need to be submitted by Nov. 19, 2008. The organization anticipates it will build or rehabilitate one house this year and two houses next year. The house to be built will be at 505 Dale Street in Grayling and will be built in May of 2009.

"We're asking the community to help us spread the word that we are now accepting applications from families and individuals in need of safe, decent housing," explains Johanna Jurkovich of Habitat for Humanity of Crawford County. The three criteria used in the application process are housing need, ability to pay and willingness to partner.

To qualify for a Habitat for Humanity home, applicants must be living in substandard housing and have a stable income of 30-50 percent or less of the area median income.

To become a Habitat for Humanity homeowner, families must agree to help build their own house and agree to perform 250 hours of sweat equity per adult in the household. They are also required to take classes as part of their transition from renters to owners. These classes include credit counseling and home maintenance.

"The classes are extremely important. We work with our families to help improve their credit, improve their budgeting skills and learn the basics of home maintenance, so when they become homeowners, they have the tools to be successful," explains Jurkovich.

When the home is completed, the family receives a "hand-up, not a hand-out" in the form of a no profit, zero interest mortgage.

"This is not a give-away program," explains Jurkovich. "Our families pay approximately $350 per month, which includes homeowner's insurance, property taxes and the principal payment that supports the building of future Habitat homes."

For more information, or to learn about the application process to become a Habitat for Humanity homeowner, contact Johanna Jurkovich at 989-348-2920. Applications are available at Citizens Bank, Chemical Bank, Northland Credit Union or at the Habitat for Humanity office currently located inside the Century 21 office in Grayling.

Town hall meeting on Chronic Wasting Disease scheduled in Grayling

The Michigan departments of Natural Resources and Agriculture and the Michigan State University Extension (MSUE) has scheduled a town hall meeting in Grayling on Wednesday, Oct. 29, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at Grayling High School, located at 1135 N. Old US-27, prior to the firearm deer hunting season for the public to learn more about Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) and the state's response plan to manage the disease.

Other town hall meetings across the state are scheduled for: Kalamazoo on Wednesday, Oct. 22. The meeting will take place from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Kalamazoo Valley Community College in the auditorium. The auditorium is located at 6767 West O Ave. in Kalamazoo.

Marquette on Thursday, Oct. 23. The meeting will take place from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Citizens Forum Room at Lakeview Arena, located at 401 E. Fair Ave. in Marquette.

Frankenmuth on Monday, Oct. 27. The meeting will take place from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Bronner Theater, located at 525 E. Genesee in Frankenmuth.

At all meetings, staff from the DNR and MDA will present information on CWD and the state's emergency response plan for the disease. A question-and-answer session, facilitated by MSUE, will follow the presentations.

On Aug. 25, the DNR and MDA confirmed the state's first case of CWD in a three-year-old privately-owned white-tailed deer in Kent County. It is still unknown how the animal became infected.

CWD is a fatal neurological disease that affects deer, elk and moose.

Infected animals display abnormal behaviors, loss of bodily functions and progressive weight loss. Current evidence suggests that the disease is transmitted through infectious, self-multiplying proteins (prions). Prions are normal cell proteins whose shape has been transformed, causing CWD. The disease is transmitted by exposure to saliva of infected animals. Susceptible animals can also acquire CWD by eating feces from an infected animal or soil contaminated by them.

Once contaminated, soil is thought to remain a source of infection for many years, making CWD a particularly difficult disease to eradicate.

More information about CWD is available online at www.michigan.gov/chronicwastingdisease.

Theatre group begins work on 'Our Town'

The Kirtland Community College Community Theatre group is already busy preparing for the April 2009 production of Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize winning play, "Our Town," and will soon announce when open auditions will be scheduled in late January.

"This will be one of the largest productions the Kirtland Community Theatre has performed," said Jerry Werle, who will direct the show. "The three-act play requires a cast of 25 actors and actresses, ranging in age from 11 to 65, some to play more than one role, and a small choir of at least six singers."

"We also need several people for our production crew of stage hands, sound and light technicians, make-up and properties technicians and costumers," Werle added. "In particular, we're looking for folks to help us find or make costumes from the early 1900s."

The popular play, first performed in 1938, takes place in the mythical small town of Grover's Corners, N.H.

"The play has a timeless quality and the events of the plot are transformed into universal experiences," said Don Wray, director of the Kirtland Center for the Performing Arts. "We're sure there are many people in our area who have seen, heard about or participated in this wonderful play and who'd like to become involved in its production here."

Wray said open auditions for the 25-member cast will be scheduled for the end of January, with the play set to be performed on April 16-18, 2009, at the KCPA on the main campus of Kirtland Community College near Roscommon. Persons interested in volunteering for the production crew should contact Wray by calling 989-275-5000, extension 261, or via e-mail at wrayd@kirtland.edu.

Exact time and dates for the open auditions have yet to be determined, though organizers expect to announce those dates in

The Bible Speaks

Creation Hopes in God

We studied Romans 8:19 last week: "19For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God." In Romans 8:20 we shall study creation's past problems and prophetic prospects. "20For the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope."

First, we see the reality of creation's problems. "For the creature was made subject to vanity..." The sin and fall of Adam and Eve brought disease, disorder, death, and destruction upon all creation. This sin and fall resulted in the universal flood destroying the world of Noah's day. "13And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth." (Gen. 6:13). As Isaiah 24:5 says: "5The earth also is defiled under the inhabitants thereof; because they have transgressed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlasting covenant." Human sin has brought pain, problems, and punishment upon innocent creation.

Second, we study the reason creation has problems, "...not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope." Creation did nothing to be subjected to vanity. God placed the rest of creation under the curse of judgment resulting from human sin and the fall. "17And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life; 18Thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee; and thou shalt eat the herb of the field." (Gen. 3:17,18). Humans failed as stewards over God's creation by their sin against God.

Third, we study the redemption from creation's problems by the hope we share at the return of Jesus Christ; "...him who hath subjected the same in hope." "1The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose." (Isaiah 35:1). "13Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree: and it shall be to the LORD for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off." (Isaiah 55:13). "25The wolf and the lamb shall feed together, and the lion shall eat straw like the bullock: and dust shall be the serpent's meat. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain, saith the LORD." (Isaiah 65:25). "7And the cow and the bear shall feed; their young ones shall lie down together: and the lion shall eat straw like the ox. 8And the sucking child shall play on the hole of the asp, and the weaned child shall put his hand on the cockatrice' den. 9They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea." (Isaiah 11:7-9).

Humans still recognize their God-given responsibility toward creation. This is obvious by their efforts toward environmental issues, concern for plants and animals, and the future of planet earth. But the only ultimate hope for creation is the return of our creator to restore all things. Do you know Him as your creator? Your redeemer? Your future hope? The return of our Lord Jesus Christ is drawing near! Pastor "B"

AREA EVENTS

St. Helen - Northern Michigan families are invited to decorate their trunks and bring along their treaters to St. Helen's Third Annual Trunk or Treat on Saturday, Oct. 25, at the Richfield Township Park, located in St. Helen on Airport Rd., one-quarter mile east of the traffic light.

Activities begin in the township pavilion at 5:30 p.m. with trunk or treating for children of all ages. Families will also be able to take a haunted hayride, listen to a DJ, keep warm by a bonfire, drink hot chocolate or cider and eat donuts, all offered at no cost. Neon neck chains will be distributed to kids to help keep them safe.

Businesses and residents are encouraged to join in the fun by decorating a trunk and handing out candy. Participants should be prepared for more than 1000 trick-or-treaters and vehicles must be set up before 5 p.m. in the township parking lot. Electricity is available for trunks that light up if vehicle owners bring an extension cord. Pre-registration is not required.

To show their appreciation, FISH (Friends In St. Helen) will be presenting plenty of prizes to the trunk entrants, including three monetary awards for Best Overall Trunk: first place, $100; second place, $50; and third place, $25.

The event is sponsored by The Friends In St. Helen Inc. (FISH).

Kalkaska - The newly formed Northern Michigan Table Tennis Club (NMTTC) and the Kalkaska Kaliseum invites the public to an open house on Saturday, Oct. 25, from 1 p.m. - 3 p.m. at the Kalkaska Kaliseum. Members of the public will be able to tour the Kaliseum facilities, meet other table tennis players and club members, obtain advice on table tennis equipment and techniques and play some table tennis. Membership in the NMTTC is open to anyone of any age interested in learning more about table tennis (ping pong) and playing either recreationally or competitively. Fall table tennis leagues will also be forming and league sign up will be available at the open house and at the NMTTC Web site (<http://northernmitabletennisclub.googlepages.com/home>).

Family or individual membership in the NMTTC is only $25 per year. A small additional daily fee ($6) or a membership in the Kaliseum is required for entrance into the Kaliseum and access to all of the facilities, such as the swimming pool and fitness center. For the Oct. 25 open house, access to the Kaliseum will be free. The Kaliseum is located on the south side of M-72 about two miles east of the intersection of M-72 and US-131. For more information about the Kalkaska Kaliseum, including directions, go to <http://www.kaliseum.com/>.

Currently, members of the NMTTC are gathering to play at the Kaliseum on Thursdays from 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. and Sundays between 4 p.m. - 6 p.m. If you would like to play table tennis before the open house, please feel free to participate on either Thursday evenings or Sunday afternoons. For more information about the Northern Michigan Table Tennis Club, visit the club Web site at <http://northernmitabletennisclub.googlepages.com/home> or contact any of the following club officers: Dean Ginther at dean.ginther@gmail.com, 231-322-3819; Paul Everts at paultcpong@gmail.com, 231-499-1654; or Mike Ratliff at ratznest@chartermi.net, 231-590-1962.

Card of Thanks

What a breath of fresh air it was to see so many wonderful women and men of this community come out to show their support for the North Country Corner Fashion Show that was held this past Saturday at the Grayling Country Club. Pam Barr, along with Jeanne Weaver, owners and operators of North Country Corner and their amazing staff, brought out this year's fall and winter's best and reminded us all how important it is to be apart of this community. Thank you to the Grayling Country Club for a fabulous job as host and Al Bondar for his time and musical background.

Making a successful business in this town, as of late, let alone with the economy, is challenging and sometimes overwhelming, but North Country Corner gifts and apparel has by far exceeded the expectations and has gone above and beyond the normal "new business." I am so proud of the pride, hard work and dedication that each one of them has put into this business and I thank you for letting me and my family be a part of it. Your success is a role model for all established businesses and future ones. Your customer service should not only be mirrored, admired and practiced, but also commended. You make us all very proud, hats off to you and your accomplishments. For all of you reading this ... make sure you take time to shop and browse this great addition to our town.

During an assembly at the AuSable Primary School on Oct. 20, students who participated in a fall school fund-raiser waited anxiously to find out who the top selling winners were. Approximately half of the student population at AuSable Primary took part. Proceeds from this fund-raiser go directly to student activities and field trips. Pictured above are the students that earned special prizes for their hard work. Back row (L to R) Jordan Bondar (2nd grade), Emma Mertes (1st grade), Tiffany Heggie (1st grade), Stephanie Hagle (kindergarten), Dominick Perry (1st grade); front row (L to R) Kane Murphy (kindergarten), Emily Sajdak (2nd grade), Zach Osga (1st grade) and Madison Iwinski (2nd grade). Not pictured are Michael Roe (1st grade) and Brandy Tackett (1st grade).

Enough is Enough!

If you don't want to vote for me, then don't vote for me, but don't base your decision on misinformation.

Here's what I want concerning the township/city fire department dispute:

I want the township and the city to co-administer the fire department like we used to. I think it worked well when both the township and the city worked together. If we turn the entire fire department over to the city you will continue to pay, but have no representation. Taxation without representation is wrong.

If we can't come to an agreement with the city for co-administration, I will do whatever I am directed to do by my board of trustees. That's what I have always done, and that's what I will always do. The only authority I have comes from them.

There is no plot to have my own fire department, nor have there been promises to anyone that Grayling Township would have a full-time fire department. We will not have a full-time fire department. If any special assessment is approved it will come from the seven member board of trustees, of which I only have one vote (and I'm not in favor of a special assessment).

Unfortunately, our professional firemen are caught in the middle of this dispute. They want to know if they have a future as firemen, as do I. They want to know if fire coverage will continue in the township, as do I. They have been smart to stay out of the dispute, but they're worried, as am I.

The board of trustees will decide if the lawsuit continues or is dropped, just like it was a board decision to originally file it. I can't imagine where some people have gotten the idea that I am so all-powerful that I can make policy based on my own wishes. Grayling Charter Township speaks through the policies, procedures and decisions of the board of trustees. My job is to represent the board and carry out their policies, procedures and decisions.

I have read so many letters in the paper recently saying "according to my source," or "I hear," I'm going to do this or that. It's all a BUNCH of BULL. None of these people have had the courtesy and common sense to ask me anything about what I'm actually going to do, before writing their nasty letters.

As your supervisor, I have always tried to represent you and conduct myself with honesty, integrity and common sense. If you don't want to vote for me, don't vote for me, but don't buy into this baseless smear campaign.

I remain at your service

Airport welcomes new flight school

A State of Michigan licensed flight school has "taken flight" at Roscommon County Blodgett Memorial Airport. The newly formed business, Take Flight, is the joint effort of David Pflum, Certified Instrument Flight Instructor, and Eric Jaroch, airport manager and Cornerstone Aircraft Maintenance owner.

The flight school adds to the many services currently available at the airport, including aircraft maintenance and repair, indoor hangar storage, 24 hour aviation and jet fuel, pilot's courtesy car, computer access to aviation weather and flight planning services.

For the past several years, Pflum has given private flight instruction in Roscommon County. Before flight instruction could begin, people interested in learning to fly had to own their own plane or join a limited membership flying club that owned a plane.

There were no rental aircraft in the area for prospective students. Pflum's passion for flying and all things related to aviation is evident in his goal to make a private pilot's license more accessible and affordable to the citizens of the area. With the formation of this licensed flight school, a Beechcraft B19 four place single engine airplane is now available to rent for flight instruction at Roscommon County Blodgett Memorial Airport.

"There is a lot of misinformation about the skill and physical requirements to learn to fly," said Pflum. "Age is not a roadblock if the person is in reasonable health and has the desire to learn. I've trained a wide range of people from as young as my eight year old grandkids to 80 plus year old adults. Flying a private plane is not restricted to the wealthy. An investment of some time and a little money can give you something you always dreamed about."

A Private Pilot's Certificate can be earned in as few as 40 hours of instruction, but typically takes 50 to 60 hours. Flight lessons are conducted to meet the student's own schedule. For an introductory flight, call 989-915-9746 or 989-366-4503.

Michigan's tourism promotion goes national

by Nico Rubello
Capital News Service

People nationwide will see Michigan's woodlands and coastlines next year, without having to travel farther than their TV sets.

That's because the state's Pure Michigan Campaign will unleash a barrage of promotion nationwide next spring, including cable TV ads in all 50 states, thanks to an increase in state funding for tourism promotion. Members of Michigan's tourism industry say that marketing the state nationally will help boost its slumping economy.

The state will spend $30 million on the campaign in the 2008-2009 fiscal year, up 71 percent from $17.5 million this year.

Tourism, Michigan's third-largest industry behind manufacturing and agriculture, hasn't received the same level of state support as the other two, said Steven Yencich, president and chief executive officer of the Michigan Lodging and Tourism Association.

"We don't have a product problem, we have a promotion problem," said Brad Ban Dommelen, president of the Traverse City Convention and Visitors Bureau. "It's just a significant product knowledge gap that's out there that can only be addressed through more aggressive marketing and building the brand of our state."

According to a state study, for every dollar spent on tourism promotion, Michigan received a return of two to three dollars in revenues, often within the same year, said George Zimmer, vice president of Travel Michigan, the state's official tourism promotion agency.

This means that a $30 million investment would yield between $60 and $90 million in new sales tax revenues.

Mike McGuire, general manager of McGuire's Resort in Cadillac, said the state's economics troubles have made people less likely to spend their time and money on a vacation.

"Obviously, we have some (economic) factors that are working against us," he said. "That added exposure is going to help Michigan tremendously."

Michigan has had the lowest hotel occupancy in the nation since 2005, Yencich said.

"To a large measure, that's because we've been forced to become overly reliant on Michigan residents for tourism outcomes," he said.

Typically, 70 percent of the state's tourism industry comes from its residents, he added.

Senator Jason Allen, R-Traverse City, has proposed permanently taking a portion of the state's unallocated sales tax revenues for the Pure Michigan Campaign, but his bill has languished in committee since August 2007. The state currently appropriates funding for tourism advertising from general tax dollars.

About 200 people, including representatives of the tourism industry, recently lobbied at the Capitol during a Senate committee hearing to support the bill.

"The importance of permanent funding for Pure Michigan is the best means to jump-start our state's economy and we know if you market tourism in March and April, tourists will come in June and July and the months that follow," Yencich said. "And, with those new tourists come jobs and new tax revenues for the state, both of which are sorely needed."

While the ads have been effective in bringing people to Northern Michigan, Wayne County benefits, too, as the No. 1 tourist destination in the state, Allen said.

"The Pure Michigan ads have been very effective in bringing families and individuals to our state," he said. "These ads helped cushion the down economy."

Hunters afield for bear season, but baiting violations found

by Charles Roltsch
Capital News Service

For John Cryderman of Sault Ste. Marie, the excitement of the hunt starts every July 15. That's when he can bring his hounds out and train them in preparation for tracking bears.

"For houndsmen, it's the pursuit, not the kill, they enjoy," he said.

The 2008 black bear season has closed in the Lower Peninsula, but the Upper Peninsula is open to hunt bears until Oct. 26.

The Lower Peninsula accounted for 16 percent of the 2,196 bears killed in the state in 2007, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

Matt Pedigo of Fenton, president of the Michigan Bear Hunters Association, hunts with hounds as well.

The night before a hunt, he and his party rake the dirt alongside a road. The next morning they check for tracks in the fresh dirt. When they find some, the dogs come in.

"I take a dog that's good at picking up a cold trail that's a few hours old," Pedigo said. Dogs follow the scent until they meet the bear.

"The bear will sometimes climb a tree and that's when it's harvested."

The association is headquartered in East Jordan.

Pedigo said that bear-hunting with dogs is a rarity. Only about 20 percent of hunters use a dog pack. The rest use bait, he said.

Daryl Couturier of Leelanau is one of those bait-hunters.

It takes a lot of work, Couturier said, and uses everything edible from fish scraps to jelly to attract bears.

Lieutenant Dan Hopkins, a DNR conservation officer in Gaylord, said, "Most violations this year were for baiting. Most of those were early baits, meaning they were legal but put out prior to the start of the season."

Hopkins said officers regularly find other infractions, such as hunters not wearing orange clothing, being unlicensed, trespassing or having more than six dogs in a pack.

Cryderman agreed, saying that he's seen all that this year and even thinks only a hunter runs into, like stolen cars and litter, deep in the woods.

In the latest figures available, 58 percent of violations from 1999-2003 were bait-related. Another 23 percent were for illegally taking or possessing a bear, which carries a penalty of a $200 to $1,000 fine and five to 90 days in jail, plus $1,500 restitution and license revocation.

Six percent of violations were for failing to attach a kill tag. Another six percent were for hunting without a license, and 5 percent were for hunting outside the dates on a license.

The final 2 percent came from not sealing a bear within 72 hours of killing it. Sealing requires taking the bear to a DNR office for a jaw tag. Without the tag, no butcher or taxidermist can legally handle it, according to Cryderman.

Hunters are allowed to bag one bear during the season. About one-quarter of hunters are successful in their pursuit, according to the DNR.

Michelson members serve up harvest dinner

The Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church held its annual harvest dinner, which included turkey, and all the trimmings, last Thursday at the church. Proceeds from the dinner help fund community outreach projects, church activities and missionary projects supported by the Michelson Memorial United Methodist Women's organization. Above, Al Johnston and Marilyn Stevenson dish up a take-out order.

SENIOR HEALTHY LIVING

Make the most of your golden years

Simple lifestyle changes can boost your memory

(ARA) – Do you ever find yourself at the grocery store struggling to remember what you came for? Are you forgetting birthdays and lunch dates? If these situations sound familiar to you, you're not alone. Forgetfulness is one of the most common complaints of those in middle age and beyond.

Memory loss and Alzheimer's disease rank high on the list of senior fears. Alzheimer's was the number one fear of aging, according to research conducted by Bankers Life and Casualty Company, a national life and health insurer that focuses on serving the retirement needs of the middle market. Similarly, a national poll by Research! America and PARADE Magazine showed that adults were more than twice as likely to fear losing their mental capacity as their physical ability.

The good news is, according to researchers at John Hopkins, most memory loss has nothing to do with Alzheimer's disease.

Nearly all of us, they say, take more time to learn and recall information as we age.

There are simple things that you can do in your everyday life to increase your ability to retain information and exercise your brain.

Engage your brain.

Mentally stimulating activities strengthen brain cells and the connection between them. You can keep those cells in shape by giving them a workout. Instead of passively watching TV, try something that engages your brain: reading, writing, taking a class, doing a crossword puzzle or even learning a new game to play with family members.

Stay in touch.

Loneliness is linked to depression, a risk factor for memory loss. Try to keep your social network strong by volunteering or simply helping a neighbor. Make a conscious effort to stay connected with friends and relatives by visiting with them or keeping in touch by phone or e-mail.

Eat healthy.

Maintaining a balanced diet, low in saturated fats, is said to be better for cognitive functioning. In addition, the Alzheimer's Association notes growing evidence that a diet rich in dark vegetables and fruits – which contain antioxidants – may help protect brain cells.

Stay active.

Regular exercise can increase oxygen to the brain. It can also lower the risk for diseases that can lead to memory loss, such as diabetes and cardiovascular disease. Your doctor can help you develop an exercise regime that's best for you.

When to seek help.

"It's important to know the difference between normal forgetting and something more serious," says Scott Perry, president of Bankers Life and Casualty Company, who serves on the board of directors of his local Alzheimer's Association chapter.

Serious memory problems, according to the National Institute on Aging, are those that affect a person's ability to perform everyday activities. For example:

- Asking the same questions over and over.
- Becoming lost in familiar places.
- Not being able to follow directions.
- Getting very confused about time, people and places.

• Losing interest in daily activities such as grooming and eating.

If you have concerns about your memory, talk to your doctor right away. For more topics of interest, visit www.bankers.com and click "Senior Resources."

SENIOR HEALTHY LIVING

Make the most of your golden years

Which Medicare prescription drug plan is right for you?

by Alice Snyder
 COA Director

Once a year, Medicare beneficiaries have the opportunity to review their current prescription drug coverage and switch plans. That time is right around the corner! Open enrollment for 2009 Medicare Prescription Drug

Plans will begin Nov. 15 and continue through Dec. 31. It is important that everyone take the time to review their drug costs and evaluate the changes in their plan for the coming year. You'll no doubt be getting bombarded with marketing materials from all the plans (there are 51 plans available in Michigan for 2009) and you'll begin seeing the marketing representatives at the stores. But, before you rush into switching plans, here are a few things to consider:

Are you eligible for the Extra Help available to pay for your coverage? There is help available to pay for the premiums, deductibles and co-payments for your Medicare Prescription Drug Plan. To be eligible, your income should be below $1,300 per month ($1,750 for a couple) and your resources (not counting your house and vehicle) should be below $11,990 ($23,970 for a couple). Applications for this assistance are processed by the Social Security Administration. You can apply online at www.ssa.gov or call them at 1-800-772-1213. Don't wait for open enrollment to apply - this can be done at anytime. Only certain plans work with the Extra Help, so make sure you have a plan that will accept the full Extra Help.

What kind of changes can I expect from my current drug plan for 2009? Anything can change, including the premiums (average plan will increase 12%), deductibles (maximum amount increasing to $298 for 2009), co-payments, restrictions and what drugs are covered. Some plans will even terminate. By Oct. 31, you should be notified by your current drug plan about any changes they will be making for 2009, including how your Extra Help status might change. All Medicare beneficiaries will be mailed a "Medicare & You 2009 Handbook." Keep the handbook as a reference guide. It includes all of the 2009 plan information. You can also go to www.medicare.gov to view data on all of the 2009 Medicare Prescription Drug Plans.

What if I'm one of those GM retirees who's losing their health benefits? Effective Jan. 1, GM salaried employees and their surviving spouses over the age of 65 with the GM Salaried Health Care Program will lose their health benefits. It will be replaced with a $300 monthly pension benefit. This means you'll be in the market for a new plan. You have a couple of options:

- 1) You can keep your traditional Medicare benefits and add a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan and a Medigap policy to help cover the Medicare deductibles and co-payments or...
- 2) You can enroll in a Medicare Advantage Plan, which will provide the drug coverage along with payments of Medicare deductibles and co-payments. If you participated in the GM Vision and Dental Coverage. A Medicare Advantage Plan may offer a more similar set of benefits to your GM plan.

How do I compare all of this plan information? All of this information can be very confusing. Many beneficiaries struggle to sort through the different options and choose the right one for them. Here's some steps to follow:

Step 1: Collect information, costs for any current prescription drug coverage including premiums, deductibles and co-payments, out of pocket costs for prescription drugs, medications, dosages and how often you take them.

Step 2: Compare 2009 Medicare drug plans to your current plan costs via the internet Web site at www.medicare.gov or by calling 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227).

Step 3: Call new 2009 top plan choices with any questions.

If you'd like some one-on-one assistance, the Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program is available in Crawford County by calling the Crawford County Commission on Aging at (989) 348-7123. You can call for appointments after Nov. 1 to be scheduled between the open enrollment period of Nov. 15 - Dec. 31. One of our trained volunteers will be happy to meet with you at the Grayling Senior Center to review your coverage.

(Alice Snyder is the Director of the Crawford County Commission on Aging and Medicare/Medicaid Assistance Program Coordinator.)

Lifestyle tips for managing arthritis pain

(NewsUSA) - One out of three adults in the U.S. suffers from arthritis or chronic joint problems, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

Some may get twinges upon awakening; others are so seriously and chronically debilitated that simply driving or washing the dishes causes agony.

Either way, arthritis is a major health problem. Whether you want to prevent contracting the disease or decrease the symptoms if you already have it, here are some steps you can take toward relief:

- Exercise. Regular physical activity strengthens the muscles that support arthritic joints, increases range of motion in the joints and, by reducing body weight, lessens the load the joints must bear.

- Find a hobby. The Arthritis Foundation reports that hobbies can have a positive effect on pain management by diverting the mind's attention away from physical and psychological pain. In a 2005 study, doctors found that older people with arthritis who listened to music for 20 minutes daily had less pain than those who simply sat and did nothing for the same length of time.

- Try supplements. You don't need a doctor's prescription to try a variety of supplements.

- Get more sleep. Inadequate sleep leads to an increase in arthritis pain and to a gain in weight, which stresses the joints even more.

- Eat well. Certain foods may help prevent arthritis or help reduce its symptoms. Specifically, the following could make a difference: omega-3 fatty acids (found in coldwater fish, walnuts and soybean kernels); selenium, an antioxidant in shellfish and whole-grain products; vitamin D (sources include eggs, fortified breads, cereals and milk); and vitamin C (berries and citrus fruits).

Vision loss: the next challenge for boomers

(NewsUSA) -- It's the leading cause of legal blindness in people over 50 -- age-related macular degeneration (AMD). The disease can progress in just a few months, and can render people functionally blind within two years. But AMD may be treatable, if detected early.

"While the overall prevalence of AMD is low among those under age 40, it rises dramatically with age -- putting baby boomers at greater risk, and underscoring the need for regular eye examinations.

"According to a recent study by the Eye Diseases Prevalence Research Group, the prevalence of AMD will increase by 50 percent by the year 2020.

"Daily activities boomers take for granted -- reading, driving, playing sports -- are no longer an option for people with AMD," said Dr. Bruce P. Rosenthal, chief of Low Vision Programs at Lighthouse International, a non-profit organization and leading resource worldwide on vision impairment and vision rehabilitation. "And for baby boomers in the workforce, the disease can be particularly devastating because it disrupts their livelihood and lifestyle."

An eye exam is the first step in detecting and treating AMD. However, research also shows it may be possible to prevent or delay the development of AMD by taking simple, healthy measures such as eating foods rich in antioxidants, wearing sunglasses and quitting smoking.

Neovascular or "wet" AMD is the more sight-threatening form of AMD, responsible for most of the severe vision loss associated with the condition. It is characterized by the growth of abnormal blood vessels that leak fluid and blood into the tissue at the back of the eye, damaging the retina and creating scar tissue and a large blind spot.

"As we age, the quality of our vision diminishes naturally, but vision loss is another matter," said Rosenthal. "Patients need to understand that vision loss is not a normal part of aging, and see their doctor before it's too late."

For more information on AMD and its treatments or to locate an eye doctor specializing in low vision, call Lighthouse International's toll-free number, 1-800-829-0500.

Extra safety measures in the home, especially in the bathroom, where the majority of slips and falls take place, are essential for seniors.

Senior safety begins in the home

(NewsUSA) -- Household accidents can happen at any time and to people of all ages, but the likelihood increases exponentially with age. According to the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control, falls are the leading cause of death and serious injury among Americans age 65 and older. Additionally, two-thirds of those who fall will end up doing so again within six months. So, what can you do to ensure that an older loved one stays safe in both their home and yours?

The following safety tips will keep your older loved ones safe in the home:

- Make sure to keep electric cords and small items out of the high-traffic areas of your home. Vision begins to decline later in life, and it can be easy to stumble over hard-to-spot hazards lying on the floor.

- Because the majority of slips and falls take place in the bathroom and around the tub, efforts to improve safety in this area should be a primary point of focus.

- All bath mats, rugs and runners should have slip-resistant backing. Periodically lift all rugs and inspect the backing to see whether it needs to be replaced.

- At older ages, we are much more susceptible to burns from hot water. To prevent this, set the temperature of your water heater below 120 degrees.

Voters to decide road repair millage

As gas prices have skyrocketed, the state has collected more funding from sales tax than it does from the fuel tax, since motorists are driving less and buying less fuel.

A task force studying new ways to fund transportation, which was formed by Gov. Jennifer M. Granholm, is completing its work and will make its recommendations on potential changes.

The distribution of MTF funding has only increased by 11 percent since 1998. During that same period, the cost of a truck has increased by 74 percent, the cost of asphalt has increased by 48 percent and gravel has increased by 20 percent. The cost of diesel fuel has increased by 304 percent and gasoline has increased by 313 percent.

"I hate to see it when a tanker comes in," Babcock said of fuel prices, even with the road commission receiving a discount by buying fuel in bulk amounts and not having to pay sales tax since it is a governmental agency. "It's $40,000 to $45,000 every time they drop a load."

Heading into the winter season, the road commission faces a 38 percent increase in the price of salt and an 89 percent increase in the cost of plow blades. Babcock said that the road commission would maintain its status quo policy of not plowing local roads during the evenings and weekends to curb overtime employee costs and operating expenses. The road commission receives funding from the state to plow state roads in the county.

"Our funds going into winter are the lowest they've ever been," Babcock said. "We're just hoping that we don't get any heavy snowstorms in the next couple of months."

The road commission has only replaced two of eight employees who have retired in the last four years. That has meant the job duties have been consolidated. The road commission employees work four days a week during the summer to curb costs.

Ken Riehle, chairman of the Crawford County Road Commission board, said officials renegotiated health insurance coverage, with the union representing road commission employees, to achieve a $300,000 savings that will go toward road repairs.

Maintenance employees as a summer project built a spreader box in-house, which goes on the back of a truck to haul gravel and salt, to achieve some savings.

"I'd put our employees up against anyone in the northern part of the state," Babcock said. "They've certainly saved us in a lot of ways cost efficiency wise."

If voters give the millage a thumbs up, projects planned by the road commission include:

- Wakeley Bridge Road from M-72 to Conners Flat Road.
- Chase Bridge Road from Pere Cheney Road to M-72.
- County Road 612 between Hartwick Pines Road and Lovells.
- Old-76 (South Grayling Road) from North Higgins Lake Drive to Dort Road.
- Fletcher Road from Old-76 to Military Road.
- Hartwick Pines Road from M-93 to County Road 612.
- Sherman Road from County Road 612 north to the Waters Landfill.
- Fletcher Road from Military

Road to the Kalkaska County Line.

• Military Road from North Higgins Lake Drive to Fletcher Road.

• County Road 612 from Stephan Bridge Road to Lovells.

• County Road 612 from Frederic west to the Kalkaska County Line.

Babcock said the list of projects is not set in stone and the road commission will continue to pursue additional federal and state funds for special projects or circumstances.

The same road millage request was defeated by voters in the 2006 November election by a vote of 2,910 no to 2,734 yes.

Unless there are unforeseen changes in the way the state and federal government funds transportation, Riehle said the only way to help get the roads fixed is through support of the millage.

"We're crying the blues because people want better roads," Riehle said. "I urge residents to take a look at the roads today. This is the best shape they are going to be in for many years unless we increase Michigan's road funding."

Business After Hours to focus on multi-million dollar film opportunities for the region

A four-county regional Business After Hours, for Ogemaw, Oscoda, Roscommon and Crawford Counties, will be hosted by Sangamore's Restaurant at Forest Dunes Golf Club on Wednesday, Oct. 29, from 5:30 p.m. - 8 p.m.

The evening will focus on the new Michigan Film Industry Incentives and how the region should move forward in attracting multi-million dollar film projects and production companies to the area.

"We are very fortunate that Janet Lockwood, director of the Michigan Film Commission and the leader of this industry for Michigan, is willing to come here and speak to our region on what we need to do to bring these million dollar productions to the area," said Richard Coates.

"We have learned that major production companies have expressed interest in this region for films, including Clint Eastwood, but the area currently lacks an organized coalition to support this industry," said Coates. "So, Ms. Lockwood's presentation will be the first step in this process. It is important that we show the Michigan Film Office that we are willing to take the steps necessary to get organized by having as many from the business and governmental communities as possible attend."

Lockwood will give an overview of the industry and how the incentive program works in a 15-minute presentation and then take questions and give answers.

Her presentation will begin at 6:30 p.m. and she will stay through the conclusion of the Business After Hours to network and develop contacts.

The cost is $5 per person and includes appetizers, door prizes, real estate tours, mini massages from the new spa at Forest Dunes, 50 percent off the new fall/winter dinner menu at Sangamore's and live music from guitarist Derek Boik. The evening is open to anyone interested.

Additional details about Business After Hours is available at www.forestdunesgolf.com or by calling Rick Coates at 989-275-0700, ext. 119.

Bill Holton (center) was honored on Oct. 18 as the "2008 Booster of the Year" for the Grayling Youth Booster Club. Local students step into World War II history

GHS students took turns asking the veterans pre-prepared questions. The vets were hard of hearing, but with a bit of patience and careful phrasing, students managed to communicate their inquiries.

They wanted to know everything from what the veterans ate to how they coped with the pressure of combat.

Members of the panel were able to offer insights into the war that could only be provided by people who lived it.

"War is hell, that's all. There's nothing like it. There's no heroes in war. You're fighting for your life ... it's not a John Wayne movie or anything like that," said Brown.

Other servicemen elaborated on their travels during the war.

"Have you even seen cold weather? No, you haven't seen cold weather," said Kellogg, who was deployed to the North Pole.

According to National Geographic, temperatures in the North Pole average 32 degrees below zero in February.

Kellogg was probably the most well-traveled of the servicemen on the panel.

"I ate a lot of strange food that ordinary people wouldn't eat," said Kellogg, who ate worms, snakes and kangaroo during the course of his deployment.

Not everything the soldiers experienced was likely to be totally foreign to the GHS students. Brown spoke of a conflict with his parents when he decided on a military career.

"I had to argue like mad with my mother," said Brown.

He said that he faced a difficult challenge even before he was actually deployed.

"Boot camp training? Well I'll tell ya, it's the roughest, toughest thing you've ever been through in your entire life," said Brown.

The overall spectrum of experiences ranged from tragedy to triumph.

"It wasn't a picnic I'll tell ya. You were in trouble all the time," said Strehle. "The Germans were rough."

Strehle was a prisoner of war for two years.

All the men on the panel were fortunate enough to eventually make it home. One veteran spoke about the impact of seeing the Statue of Liberty on his return from the war.

"All of us had tears in our eyes," said Rendon.

GHS principal Doniel Pummell was in attendance. She emphasized the value of the event.

"If we don't take the time to listen and ask, then we lose a part of our history," said Pummell.

Pummell said that out-of-classroom learning experiences like this one are a great opportunity for students.

"It fosters thinking," said Pummell.

Although the interview was only open to members of the Student Senate, Pummell said that students intend to share excerpts from the videotaped session with the rest of the school.

"We need to celebrate these men and we can't wait too long before we take the time to do it," said Pummell.

For those who actually lived through the war, it was an experience that is not ever likely to be forgotten.

"We all gave some. The ones that didn't come back, they gave it all," said Brown.

Hartwick Pines' "critter walk" draws a crowd

The animals were played by costumed people who were equipped with a vast knowledge of creature facts.

"We've been lucky enough that we've got a good core of volunteers," said Burg.

They were prepared to answer questions and clear up misconceptions.

"There's a long-time misbelief that wolves are dangerous to people," said Burg.

In truth, wolves generally avoid confrontations with human beings.

The event wasn't purely about education, as kids were encouraged to wear costumes for the walk.

"There certainly is the element of Halloween in there," said Burg.

Even educational animal facts can sometimes fit in well with the Halloween atmosphere.

"Male bears, if they're very hungry, will be cannibalistic and will eat female bears," said program volunteer Chuck Hughes.

Burg said that the event helps to remind the community that there is more to Hartwick Pines than just its summer programs.

"Here's a reason to get people to come out and enjoy the park," said Burg.

If the plan was to get people out to the park, then the plan worked. Groups of 30-40 people were being sent on the walk every two and a half minutes. Even with this rapid pacing, some people had to wait in line for nearly an hour to take the tour.

"I definitely think they need to do something to remedy that situation," said Nelson.

The event had about 500 more attendees than program volunteers expected.

"Whenever you have a successful program, you can become a victim of that success," said Burg.

Plans are being developed to improve crowd management for next year. One proposition is to host activities to keep families entertained while they are in line.

Staff members don't want families to feel like they spend all their time waiting.

"We'll have to look at logistics and how to relieve that," said Burg.

Citizens volunteer to mediate fire department battle

after failed negotiations to renew a mutual operating agreement between the city and the township which expired in June 2007.

The Grayling City Council has proposed that the Grayling City/Township Fire Department be considered as a department of the city and administered by Grayling City Manager David Thayer.

In September, the township board and city council met to discuss a 2009 operating agreement for the Grayling City/Township Fire Department, which was sent to the township in June. A mediation was also held between the parties in June.

The terms of the 10-year contract call for the township to pay 60 percent of the operating costs for the fire department, with the city covering 40 percent of the expenses. Also, the township board and city council would meet twice a year to discuss the fire department's policies, budget and other related issues.

The township board did not take any action following the public hearing, since it did not have a quorum of the board required to take official action. Trustees Shawn Krayes and Dennis Long were both absent due to family and personal medical issues.

Grayling Charter Township Clerk Monica Ashton said a majority of citizens believed the township should maintain the lawsuit and negotiate with their city, since there is taxation without representation regarding the fire department.

Dave Stephenson, Dennis Wallace, Robert McIntosh and John Jones have agreed to address Thayer and the city council about the concerns.

"That's our sticking point and that's what these people are going to talk to the city about," said Terry Wright, the Grayling Township Supervisor. "Hopefully, they will talk to them soon and hopefully something good can come from it."

Thayer said that the committee that township officials are referring to in the lawsuit was formed to find property and build a fire department. The committee was formed under former Grayling City Manager Allen Lowe's administration. Thayer said that the committee took on more duties than it was legally authorized to do by state statute.

"It took on a life of its own due to the players involved," Thayer said. "You can't do nothing more than what the rules say."

Thayer said the meetings between the city council and the township board provide an avenue to address fire department concerns. Short of forming a fire authority, which involves incorporating the fire department as a separate entity, Thayer said that any remaining issues may have to be resolved in court.

"The bottom line is you have an authority or you can contract for fire services - there is no hybrid," Thayer said. "An authority removes the administration of the fire department to the authority and the city is not interested in doing that whatsoever."

A final pre-trial hearing in the lawsuit has been scheduled for Dec. 4. A trial has been scheduled for Jan. 28-30.

Township officials are asking 46th Circuit Trial Court Judge Janet M. Allen for a court order to divide fire trucks, equipment and interests, in the current and former fire department buildings, between the city and the township, if a pact between the municipalities cannot be reached.

Thayer said that city officials would listen to the group of citizens regarding the township's concerns. The city council, however, will not negotiate terms of the agreement in an open meeting, Thayer said.

Stephenson, who is chairman of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners, said maybe someone from the outside could help find common ground between the township and the city. Stephenson has helped negotiate operations for the 46th Circuit Trial Court, which covers Crawford, Kalkaska and Otsego counties, during an eight-year legal battle over court operations.

"It would be a huge expense to all citizens if the city and the township went their separate ways and started their own fire departments," Stephenson said. "There are no guarantees and we have no magic, but hopefully our little group can come up with something for the betterment of all."

Since the City of Grayling was incorporated in 1935, it has sponsored a volunteer fire department under the city manager's direction.

The city formally created a fire department in 1947, under the direction of the city manager, and provided fire services county wide.

In 1973, the city declared that it could no longer provide fire services county wide. Grayling Township agreed to contract with the city for services. The rest of the townships started their own fire departments.

The first legal mutual operating agreement between the City of Grayling and Grayling Township was approved in 1974, according to city officials in response to the lawsuit.

Township officials claim that they have had an agreement to operate the fire department with the city for 61 years.

JV, freshman volleyball teams post wins vs. Boyne

JV squad defeats Elk Rapids 2-1 on Tuesday night

Grayling High School's JV and freshman volleyball teams combined for a 3-1 record during a three-school meet held at GHS last Tuesday. The Vikings played against the Boyne City Ramblers and the Elk Rapids Elks.

Grayling's JV squad defeated Boyne City 3-0 in a best-of-three series. The Vikings won 25-22, 25-12, 15-8.

The JV squad also posted a win vs. Elk Rapids. Grayling lost the first game of the series, 25-18, but the Vikings won the next two games (25-15, 25-18) to win the match.

The freshman squad defeated Boyne City's 9th grade team 2-1 in a best-of-three series. Grayling won game one 25-21. Boyne City took game two with a score of 25-19. The Vikings won game three 25-22 to win the match.

Against Elk Rapids, Grayling's 9th grade squad won game one, 25-21, but the Elks won the next two games (25-18, 25-16) to win the series.

"They worked really hard setting it up for three hits," Coach Brooke Laurent said. "They worked well as a team. I'm excited about the progress of our season so far."

The GHS JV and freshman volleyball squads will compete in the Gaylord Invitational on Saturday, Oct. 25.

Gladiators seal win with two 4th quarter TDs

Vikings fall to 5-3 with 43-28 loss to TC St. Francis

by Caleb Casey
Senior Staff Writer

The Grayling Vikings trailed the Traverse City St. Francis Gladiators by six points, 28-22, going into the fourth quarter of last Friday's varsity football game at Grayling High School, but TCSF intercepted two Grayling pass attempts and scored two touchdowns in the final 10 minutes to seal a 43-28 win.

Traverse City St. Francis scored the first points of the contest with an eight-yard touchdown run at the first period's 2:49 mark. With the extra point kick, TCSF led 7-0.

After a Grayling punt, Traverse City St. Francis drove 75 yards with six rushing plays and finished the series with a 16-yard TD run. The Gladiators completed a pass for the two-point conversion. Grayling trailed 15-0 with 11:44 left in the first half.

On 3rd and 7, quarterback Jimmy Osga completed a deep pass to Eric Ferrigan for a 63-yard TD. The two-point conversion attempt failed. Traverse City St. Francis led 15-6.

Grayling stopped the Gladiators on a 4th and 1 play to take over on downs. The Vikings punted on 4th and 6. Grayling's defense forced an intentional grounding penalty on 3rd and 13, and the Gladiators punted on 4th and 30.

Grayling started at its 27-yard line. Osga threw to Cody Myers for nine yards. On 3rd and 12, Osga completed a pass to Spencer Dean for a gain of 17 yards. Osga passed to Dean on 3rd and 7 for a gain of eight yards. A pass to Myers brought up 1st and 10 at the 14-yard line. Osga passed to Ferrigan for a nine-yard gain. A shovel pass from Osga to Tyler Hanson scored a five-yard TD for the Vikings. Osga passed to Dean for the two-point conversion. Grayling trailed by one, 15-14, with 1:59 left in the first half.

Traverse City St. Francis returned Grayling's kickoff to the 35-yard line. On 1st and 10, the Gladiators scored on a 35-yard TD run. Geo Bindschatel blocked the extra point kick. TCSF led 21-14 with 1:38 left in the second quarter.

The Gladiators recovered an on-side kick, giving Traverse City St. Francis the ball 37 yards from the goal line. Grayling's defense forced a punt.

Traverse City St. Francis had a 21-14 lead at halftime.

On the first possession of the second half, Grayling's defense stopped Traverse City St. Francis on 4th and 1 – six yards from the goal line – to force a turnover on downs.

The next three possessions – two by GHS and one by TCSF – ended with punts.

Traverse City St. Francis drove 50 yards on three plays, finishing the series with a 19-yard TD run on 2nd and 6. The Gladiators kicked the extra point. TCSF led 28-14 with 3:18 left in the third quarter.

Grayling turned the ball over on downs with an incomplete pass on 4th and 7.

On 2nd and 26, Trent Larm forced a fumble and Ryan Foguth recovered the loose ball for the Vikings.

Grayling took over 36 yards from the end zone. Passes to Dean and Hanson picked up 16 yards and a first down. Osga

Soccer team's season ends with 7-0 district loss

Vikings fall to Bucks at RHS on Monday night

The Grayling Vikings ended their 2008 boys soccer season with a 7-0 loss vs. the Roscommon Bucks last Monday in a District 46-3 contest held at Roscommon High School last Monday.

The Bucks scored their first goal of the contest at the 35:20 mark in the first half – just 4:40 into the game. Roscommon led 3-0 at halftime. The Bucks scored their last three goals in the final 10 minutes of the match.

"In the second half we came out more aggressive and held Roscommon in check for most of the next 20 minutes," Coach Craig Cobb said.

The Vikings finished the year with a 6-11-1 regular season record and an 0-1 postseason record.

"It was an emotional season. We, as a team, came into the season with high expectations. Unfortunately, we didn't consistently meet those high expectations that we worked for," Coach Cobb said.

AuSable Valley Animal Shelter, formerly the Animal Shelter of Crawford County, took in over 300 dogs/puppies last year. The numbers are on the same track for 2008. Most dogs come to the shelter after being picked up by Animal Control or have been found wandering by concerned citizens. Some are thoughtlessly abandoned by their owners when they move away. In 2007, less than one-third of the dogs that found refuge at our shelter were claimed by their owners. That leaves a lot of great dogs looking for loving, new homes... and they're looking to you for another chance for a happy life!

threw to Steffey for a 12-yard gain. On 1st and goal, Osga completed a shovel pass to Hanson for an eight-yard TD. Osga threw to Myers for the two-point conversion. TCSF led 28-22 with three seconds left in the third period.

The Gladiators responded with an eight-play, 61-yard scoring drive. Traverse City St. Francis finished the series with a three-yard TD run on 3rd and goal. TCSF scored the two-point conversion with a rushing play. The Gladiators led 26-22 with 9:49 remaining in the game.

On 3rd and 8, Traverse City St. Francis intercepted a Grayling pass.

TCSF drove 26 yards on five plays and finished the possession with a five-yard TD run on 3rd and 1. With the extra point kick, Traverse City St. Francis led 43-22.

Osga passed to Dean for an 11-yard gain on 1st and 10. Passes to Hanson and Ferrigan picked up another first down. On the next play, Traverse City St. Francis intercepted a Grayling pass to end the series.

TCSF punted on 4th and 20. Grayling took over at its 19-yard line.

Passes to Myers and Dean gained 20 yards. Passes to Myers and Ferrigan picked up another first down. Grayling gained 23 more yards with completions to Myers and Steffey. A pass to Myers on the next play gained 12 yards, bringing up 1st and 10 at the 11-yard line of Traverse City St. Francis. Osga threw to Dean for an 11-yard TD on the next play. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

Traverse City St. Francis killed the final 38 seconds and won by a final score of 43-28.

The Gladiators improved their record to 7-1 overall (6-0 league). Grayling fell to 5-3 overall (3-3 league).

Osga completed 41 of 70 pass attempts for 379 yards and four TDs, adding to his school records for single season passing yards, passing attempts, passing TDs, and total touchdowns.

Dean, who returned to action last week after missing six games with an injury, caught 16 passes — a new school record — for 152 yards and one TD. Ferrigan caught seven passes for 93 yards and one TD. Myers had nine catches for 78 yards.

"St. Francis is a great team with a lot of blue-chip athletes. Our blue-collar athletes gave a performance that they can be proud of forever. St. Francis linebacker Max Bullough has signed to play football at Michigan State... and he is only a junior. We could have easily backed down and no one would have blamed us. But that is not the makeup of our team or our program. When you finish playing us, you will know that you didn't go dancing that night," Coach Ben Brock said.

"Spencer Dean finished the night with 16 catches for 152 yards and one touchdown. His 16 catches mark the second highest total for a player in one game in state history. Jimmy Osga also set state records by completing 41 passes out of 70 attempts. He finished the night with 379 yards and four touchdowns. Osga now has 2,639 yards passing and 29 touchdowns on the season. After eight games, he has broken the previous passing record of Jeff Bancroft by over 1,100 yards. His touchdown record has passed previous record holder Bruce Burkett by 12," Coach Brock said.

"Defensively, we played them tough. They (scored) 43 points, but the score is not indicative of how well we played. We sacked their quarterback four times and limited them to seven yards passing. Bullough finished with three touchdowns rushing and Ben Swan finished with two. Still, we stopped them on two fourth down conversions and forced two fumbles. Next week, we will add Spencer Dean to the defense," Coach Brock said.

"Geo Bindschattel led our defense with 17 tackles and a sack. He now has 92 tackles on the season and has been a stud for us for three seasons. Matt Haight and Tyler Steffey also had 12 tackles. Trent Larm had another good defensive game with nine tackles and two sacks. Fellow senior Jake Aubry finished with nine tackles and one sack," Coach Brock said. "Our seniors are stepping up to the challenge and we understand that it is one and done the rest of the way out. If we win, we keep playing. If we lose, we talk about what might have been. As a staff, we have full confidence in this group of young men."

"Right now, we are playing the best that we have played all season. What you try to do as a coach is have your boys ready for the postseason, and I believe that we are. Now we have to go out and beat 7-1 Boyne City at their place. We truly believe that we can accomplish this," Coach Brock said.

The Vikings (5-3 overall, 3-3 league) will finish their 2008 regular season with a conference game at Boyne City (7-1 overall, 5-1 league) on Friday, Oct. 24, at 7 p.m. The Vikings can secure a playoff spot with a victory.

JV football squad falls to Gladiators

The GHS junior varsity football squad lost to the Traverse City St. Francis Gladiators by a final score of 46-26 in a game played at Traverse City on Thursday night.

Grayling fumbled the opening kickoff and TCSF scored on a three-play, 38-yard drive.

After a change of possession and an interception by Grayling, the Gladiators scored again on a three-play, 25-yard drive. The two-point conversion was successful to make the score 14-0 with 6:16 left in the first quarter.

Grayling responded with a nine-play, 53-yard scoring drive capped off with a seven-yard TD run by Zane Tobin. The Vikings scored the two-point conversion with a pass from Tobin to Steven Enos. Grayling trailed 14-8 with 2:42 left in the first quarter.

TCSF scored again with 56 seconds left in the first period. The Gladiators led 20-8. Traverse City St. Francis scored another TD early in the second quarter to lead 26-8.

Grayling scored with 6:07 left in the second quarter on a 40-yard TD pass from Tobin to Tyler Brigham. The two-point conversion attempt failed. TCSF led 26-14.

The Vikings scored again with 22 seconds left in the first half to pull within six, 26-20. Grayling finished the drive with an eight-yard TD pass from Tobin to Enos.

After forcing TCSF to punt on its first possession of the second half, Grayling drove to the 13-yard line. After four downs, Grayling was unable to move the chains and gave the ball back to Traverse City St. Francis. There were three changes of possession before Traverse City St. Francis scored its next three touchdowns. With 10 minutes left in the fourth quarter, Traverse City St. Francis led 46-20.

Grayling scored one more time on a 16-yard TD pass from Riley Zigila to David Bergan.

Traverse City St. Francis won 46-26.

Grayling finished with 288 yards of offense — 235 passing and 53 rushing.

Tobin was 18 for 32 for 156 yards with one passing TD, one rushing TD, and three interceptions. Bergan completed two passes for 63 yards and one TD. He also caught nine passes for 75 yards and one TD. Zigila completed one pass for 16 yards and a TD. He rushed for 25 yards on four carries. Brigham caught five passes for 114 yards and one TD. Enos had six receptions for 46 yards and one TD.

On defense, Enos had 11 tackles. Devon Dawson, Tyler Brigham, and Matt Dunckel each had five tackles. Bergan had four tackles. Craig Collen had two tackles and one sack.

"We cannot afford to spot a team like this 14 points before we have two offensive possessions. Next week we will adjust to the game speed much faster," Coach Ron Wyman said.

"Overall, I thought there were several players on the field who played with a lot of heart, but in the end, we just made too many mistakes," Coach Chris Kucharek said.

The Vikings (5-2-1) will host

Boyne City — the Lake Michigan Conference JV champions for this year — on Thursday, Oct. 23, at 6 p.m.

JIMMY OSGA & SPENCER DEAN

"Jimmy had another record-breaking day with 41 completions out of 70 attempts. He added to his season passing record with 379 yards to bring his eight-game total to 2,639 yards. His four touchdown passes increase his school record total to 29 on the season. He will need to do his thing next week for us to have a shot at the playoffs. Spencer announced his presence with authority as he caught 16 passes for 152 yards. His 16 grabs are a school record and are the second most in state history. What was more impressive was that he is coming off a broken collarbone from the week one game against Roscommon. Spencer was a welcome addition to our offense and this week he will play defense," their coach said.

Volleyball teams fall to Harbor Springs on Thursday

Rams, down 0-2, win next three to take varsity series

The GHS varsity, junior varsity, and freshman volleyball squads all fell to the visiting Harbor Springs Rams last Thursday in a meet played at Grayling High School.

The JV and freshman squads played first. Grayling's 9th grade team won its first game 25-19. Harbor Springs tied the series at 1-1 with a 25-20 victory in game two. Harbor Springs won a hard-fought game three by a final score of 25-23.

"The girls had their best game of the season," Coach Brooke Laurent said. "They worked hard for every point and really gave 100 percent. A tough loss, but a great game."

In the JV series, Harbor Springs won the first two games (26-24, 25-13). Grayling won the third game 15-7.

The two varsity squads then played a best-of-five series. Grayling took an early 2-0 lead with victories in game one (25-21) and game two (25-15).

Harbor Springs won game three 25-23. The Rams tied the series at 2-2 with a 27-25 victory in game four. Harbor Springs won the series with a 15-10 victory in the final match.

"Despite serve receiving 93 percent, we fell to Harbor Springs in five games. They were close games. The team played very well, but Harbor Springs didn't give up and kept digging every ball we hit at them. We have struggled all year with finishing games, and again we failed to finish. It was a very tough loss for us to swallow," Coach Jessica Szymoniak said.

"We are getting better every time we enter the court. We are learning from our mistakes and correcting them, which is what I can ask of the kids. We see something they are not doing in a game and fix (it) in practice, and by the next game, they have incorporated (it) into their play. For example, my setters haven't been playing defense and each of them — Josie Swander and Savannah Foguth — were in the top five for digs on the team with double digits. That is huge for our defense and transitioning into offense," Coach Szymoniak said.

"Cayla Johnson served 100 percent on the night with two aces and played great in the back row with three digs. Suzanne Hause led the night in digs with 19 and tied with Arica Rockhold with kills at 10 apiece. Savannah Foguth and Joni Bindschatel each had 17 digs and Savannah led the night with 21 assists. Grace Calkins was 100 percent with her assists — she was 7 for 7. Sierra Williamson led the night with two solo blocks and added six kills," Coach Szymoniak said.

Varsity squad falls to Boyne, Elk Rapids

The Grayling Vikings lost two varsity volleyball league matches last Tuesday at Elk Rapids.

Grayling lost both best-of-five series 3-0. Boyne City defeated the Vikings 25-17, 25-18, 25-20. Elk Rapids won 25-11, 25-15, 25-17 vs. Grayling.

"We lost both games. It was a very hard night to swallow because of all the growth the team made last week. We played OK against Boyne City, who has a great middle hitter, but we fell apart against Elk Rapids. We lacked communication all night, which is a vital part of volleyball. It turned out to be a long night," Coach Jessica Szymoniak said.

Ashley Feldhauser had a team-high 17 digs, four aces, and 10 kills. Joni Bindschatel had 13 digs and five kills. Suzanne Hause added eight kills. Savannah Foguth had 15 assists.

The team will compete in the Boyne Invitational on Saturday, Oct. 25.

MORTGAGE SALE

This firm is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt, and any information obtained will be used for that purpose.

Default has occurred in a mortgage made by Sandra Trux, single woman, to First National Bank of America, dated July 26, 2005 and recorded August 1, 2005 in Liber 676, page 451, Crawford County records. The mortgage holder has begun no proceedings to recover any part of the debt, which is now $45,836.54.

The mortgage will be foreclosed by a public sale of the property on Wednesday, November 12, 2008 at 10:00 a.m. at front door of Crawford County Courthouse, Grayling, Michigan. The property will be sold to pay the amount then due on the mortgage, together with interest at 10 per cent, foreclosure costs, attorney fees, and also any taxes and insurance that the mortgage holder pays before the sale.

The property is located in Grayling Township, Crawford County, Michigan, and is described in the mortgage as:

Parcel 1: Beginning at a point which is 492 feet East and 330 feet North of the Southwest corner of the Northeast 1/4 of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 17, Town 26 North, Range 2 West; thence East 298 feet to the right-of-way of the County Road; thence Northeastly along said right-of-way 186.2 feet; thence West 385 feet; thence South 165 feet to the Point of Beginning. Being a part of the Northeast 1/4 of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 17, Town 26 North, Range 2 West. Also a 1987 Stoneridge Mobile Home, Serial #TNFLH2700601SR.

The redemption period will be 6 months from the date of sale; but if the property is abandoned, the redemption period shall be one month from the date of sale.

The Grayling girls basketball team beat Petoskey 53-50 in double overtime. The Vikings outlasted Petoskey despite having four players foul out. Grayling had 30 fouls for the night and Petoskey had 22 called on them.

The Grayling football team used two big touchdown plays to break open the game and the defense shut down Boyne most of the night in a 26-0 win.

A tank, carrying 10,500 gallons of liquified gas, came loose from a truck and rolled over near the Military Road entrance onto US-27 South at about 5:15 p.m. The tank was ruptured slightly when it crashed, said Beaver Creek Fire Chief Ed Holtcamp, but only some vapors escaped. None of the liquified gas spilled, he said.

A railroad siding and loading area, to serve the forest products industry in Grayling Township, will cost $273,900 to build, a recently completed study shows. The railroad siding and loading area is being considered for the area just west of AJD Forest Products along Four Mile Road. Arnold Stancil, Grayling Township Supervisor, said the township just received the study and hasn't done much with it. He said the township doesn't have the money to build the railroad project, but the township would probably start applying for grant money next year to fund the project.

Students nominated for Student of the Month for September at Grayling Middle School were Kevin Austin, Jennifer Ventline, Tracy Levandowski, Leann Bishop, Trisha Piehl, Margarita Perez, Laurie Mier, Larry Fyan, Mike Tremblay, Max Prosser, Jeanne Hayes, Michelle Horning, Danny Pratt, Matt Bellish, Tammy Newsom, Meagan Little, Ellen Kulich, Lucky Gunther and Toye Sheldon.

Another new business has blossomed in Grayling, the R & H Sport Center, operated by Raymond Pease at his home at 107 Lake Street. R & H will feature gun repair, reel repair and the ability to order new guns and loading equipment. The sport center is presently located in the Pease basement, but plans are to build a shop at the rear of the house in the spring.

The Frederic Fire Department received its first call to duty on Friday at 12:30 a.m., on Oct. 19, to extinguish a fire at Brownie's Cabins in Frederic. The blaze was brought under control within eight minutes of the department's arrival. Due to a misunderstanding, the Grayling Fire Department was also called, but the fire was already under control when the Grayling department arrived. Of the seven cabins owned by the Raymond Browns, one was completely burned and another had extensive water damage.

The junior class won the float contest in the homecoming parade with their sphinx, the seniors were second with a crown float and the ninth grade had a fairy tale float. The judges for the floats were John Alef and Glen Sawyer, of Grayling State Bank, and Grayling City Manager Harold Cliff.

On Tuesday, the fire siren was moved from the local telephone office to the city hall and now it is sounded at noon and 5 p.m. instead of noon and 6 p.m.

"Mac" MacGinnis of Houghton Lake has rented the small store formerly occupied by Esbern Olson and will soon open a hamburger shop there.

On Saturday, Oct. 21, Coach Cornell's football squad played Onaway on the local gridiron. After the smoke of the battle had cleared, Grayling was found perched on the short end of a 20-0 game.

The old telephone directory is now obsolete. In its place is a new directory with every number changed. The new dial phone system went into operation at 9 a.m. There will be no telephone girl to answer "number please" and you will have to do your own calling.

Much excitement was caused at City Restaurant on Sunday around 6 p.m. when the gasoline tank of the coffee urn exploded. An alarm was sounded in District 1 and the fire department responded, but the flames had been extinguished by a fire extinguisher belonging to Olaf Sorenson and Son, which Arthur McIntyre quickly applied. No serious damage was done.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Popcorn Caramel Apples

Ingredients:

- 1 quart popped popcorn
- 1 (9.5 oz.) package caramels, unwrapped (35 caramels)
- 1/4 cup light cream or "half and half"

- 4 lollipop sticks (or wooden candy apple sticks)
- 4 apples
- 1/2 cup chocolate chips
- Sugar sprinkles

Directions: Place popcorn in a large bowl; set aside. Place a sheet of waxed paper on work surface. Heat caramels and cream in a small sauce pan over medium-low heat. Stir frequently until caramels are melted and cream is blended into caramels. Push a stick into an apple center and dip into caramel. Spoon caramel over apple to coat completely. Place caramel-coated apple into bowl of popcorn and press popcorn onto caramel to cover completely. Place apple on waxed paper to set; repeat with remaining apples. Place chocolate chips in a small, resealable plastic bag. Microwave 10 seconds and press chips to aid melting. Repeat, heating at 10-second intervals, until chips are completely melted. Cut a small corner off bag and squeeze chocolate onto each apple, allowing chocolate to drip down sides. Sprinkle with sugar sprinkles. To serve, cut apple into slices.

HOROSCOPES

For the week of October 23, 2008

 December 22 - January 19 The world is on your side, Capricorn, so if you dare to be ambitious, others will notice and you could be moving up. A last-ditch effort to save a friendship pans out.	 March 21 - April 19 Upheaval is all around you, but lucky for you, Aries, it does not involve you. Watch, listen and learn. The scary part is over. A business meeting ends well.	 June 22 - July 22 Look out, Cancer. Money woes lessen, a health scare ends and love becomes spell binding. Do something fun to celebrate this new phase of life.	 September 23 - October 22 You always thought saving for a rainy day would be a challenge, but something clicks this week and it becomes a snap for you, Libra. You may just meet your goals after all.
 January 20 - February 18 Expectations are flying high, perhaps a little too high, Aquarius. Aim lower and others will not disappoint you. A budget check reveals a little something extra.	 April 20 - May 20 Wise up, Taurus. You are seeing what you want to, not what is actually taking place. Take off your blinders and see the situation for what it really is.	 July 23 - August 22 Move over, Leo. Your moment is the spotlight has come to an end and there will be more thrills another day. A change in the weather provokes a change in attitude.	 October 23 - November 21 Time is precious, so if others decide to play silly games with you, turn a deaf ear and walk away, Scorpio. You have more important things to do.
 February 19 - March 20 You may not think so, but life is exactly as it should be. Stop complaining and start seeing all of the good things you have going, Pisces.	 May 21 - June 21 Don't hold back, Gemini. Show the world what you've got. Vacation plans lead you on the path of self-discovery. Bon voyage and good luck! A friend entertains you.	 August 23 - September 22 Magic weaves its way into your life and things go sour begin to look up. A blast from the past rolls into town in the nick of time. Spooky, Virgo!	 November 22 - December 21 Something extraordinary is about to happen, Sagittarius. Have fun. The chase for a collectible has a surprise ending. How lucky can be you be.
